Chicago, July 9.—Tris Speaker pilot of the Cleveland World's champions, has dethroned Harry Heilmann, the Detroit slugging outfielder, for batting honors in the American league, according to averages released today which include games of Wednesday. Tris increased his batting mark from .408 a week ago to .415, while Heilmann is batting .409.

Babe Ruth, the home run king, is making rapid strides toward the top of the ladder and has advanced to fourth position, behind Cobb, the Detroit manager, who was eluding .394 before he was forced out of the game because of injury. Ruth is hitting .378. The Yankee slugger cracked out three home runs the past week and brought his string to 31 circuit drives. Other leading batters: Sisler, St. Louis, .364; Williams, St. Louis, .361; Tobin, St. Louis, .360; Veach, Detroit, .358; Severiod, St. Louis, .357; E. Collins, Chicago, .351.

The veteran George Cutshaw, of the Pirates, enjoyed a great week with the willow and as a result has become the runner-up to Rogers Hornsby, the St. Louis star, among the batters of the National League. Cutshaw boosted his average from .347 to .365. Hornsby, however, increased his average from .407 to .428. Cy Williams, the Philadelphia outfielder, has .357, compared with .332 a week ago. He is four points behind Muesel, a teammate who is in third place with .361.

Los Angeles, Calif., July 9.—Six days filled with pageants, parades, excursions, banquets, barbecues, balls and business sessions lie ahead of delegates and other members of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks when they arrive here tomorrow for the annual sessions of the Grand Lodge of the Order.

While the Grand Lodge will not be officially opened until Monday night, the program arranged by Los Angeles Lodge, No. 99, provides for something to interest the visitors from the time their special trains pull in tomorrow morning until the following Friday, when the gathering closes with a ball at one of Los Angeles' new hotels.

Business sessions of the Grand Lodge open Tuesday. One of its first actions, it is expected, will be to send a fraternal message to Brother Warren G. Harding, President of the United States.

Elections of officers is scheduled for Wednesday. According to local Elks the only person talked of for the office of Grand Exalted Ruler is William W. Mountain, of Flint, Mich. Selection of a place for the 1922 Grand Lodge meeting is expected to follow.

There are 1,415 lodges of the order, each of which is entitled to send one delegate. Past Exalted Rulers of the lodges are also members of the Grand Lodge, and the local committee anticipate they will swell the number of official representatives to at least 2,000.

CHANCE FOR PEACE FOR IRELAND

(By Associated Press)

London, July 9.—Premier Lloyd George will meet Eamonn De Valera probably next week to discuss a basis for a formal conference on the Irish question. It was authoritatively stated here today. The Irish office stated De Valera had instructed his supporters to cease attacks on civilians and discontinue military steps.

De Valera's instructions prohibit the use of arms and any action that is likely to cause disturbance of peace. His instructions are effective from noon Monday. An optimistic air prevailed in Downing street today. The belief is voiced that there was reason to hope bloodshed in Ireland is nearing an end. Military patrols were withdrawn from Dublin streets last night, says a Central news dispatch. The morning newspapers here with the exception of the Post, apparently welcomed the truce. The Post declared the British were negotiating terms at the point of a loaded pistol.

De Valera Urges Unity

(By Associated Press)
Dublin, Ireland, July 9.—De Valera issued a manifesto today urging national unity during the peace negotiations with an unbending determination to endure all that is still necessary. He also warned against undue confidence in the result.

A Blooming Chicken

Little Mary was visiting her grandmother in the country. Out walking in the garden, she chanced to see a peacock, a bird she had never seen before. After gazing in silent admiration, she ran quickly into the house and cried out: "Oh, granny, come and see. One of your chickens is in bloom."—The Christian Register.

Miss Mary—Why didn't you bring on the finger bowls? Didn't the lady you last worked for have them?

Maid—No mum. Her friends always washed before they came to dinner.

Fred—Did you hear of the awful fright Frank got on his wedding day?

Jack—Yes, I was at the church. I saw her!

GRAND JURY TO PROBE BLAIR CASE

Frankfort, Ky., July 9.—If facts which he will gather warrant it, he will ask for a grand jury investigation of the Blair case. Victor A. Bradley, Commonwealth's Attorney, said in a telephone message last night.

"No facts in the case have as yet been presented to me," Mr. Bradley said. He added, however, that "if a report is not made within the next few weeks, I will undertake an investigation myself in an effort to determine what action in the case will be."

Mr. Bradley said he had not made any investigation so far because he was waiting to see if the facts will not be presented to him. He will leave Georgetown, where he lives, for a vacation tomorrow and will give his attention to the Blair case on his return, he said. The Franklin Circuit Court will meet in September.

Woodford Wheat Disappointing

The Versailles Sun says that the disappointment of farmers over the wheat crop increases as threshing progresses. Very few crops in Woodford county are averaging above 10 bushels per acre. Many farmers have sold their crops. The price is $1.20 per bushel for No. 2. The Farmers Union Mill has received about 18 bushels of wheat up to yesterday.

'Rah For Falmouth

Falmouth Outlook: "Falmouth with a population of 1,500, has the most up-to-date town of its size in the state in the way of municipal improvements. We have ten miles of streets in splendid repair; fifteen miles of concrete sidewalks; water and electric light plants valued at $75,000; sanitary sewerage system; bonds voted for modern school building; the best fire protection in the state of any city; all municipal property in splendid repair. We have all this and the bonded indebtedness is only $8,000. The tax rate is only $1.60 on the $100. We are not going to stop here, but we expect to make Falmouth one of the show places of towns of this size in the United States. We are going to show the world what can be done in a model little city, without overburdening the citizens with taxes. The slogan has been adopted to have a painless method of taxation and at the same time have all the advantages of the large city, municipalities. This is not a splash of bull dust, but we are now over the crest of the hill to accomplish these things. In a short time we will have delegations from all over the country coming here to study our system of doing things in economical and business like way."

Atlantic City, N. J., July 9.—Suit to collect $500 wages was filed today by Mrs. Carrie Barrett, who "mothered" Jack Dempsey while he was in training here for two months for his fight with Carpentier, against the champion and Jack Kearns his manager, in the Atlantic City District Court.

TEST NEXT YEAR'S CAR UP BIG HILL

A. B. Garrettson, of Morris-town, Pa., and L. F. Schuer, of Baltimore, Md., have been in Madison county for several days testing out a next year's model of a well known and popular priced car. They made their headquarters at Boonesboro. Bathing Beach and took in the surrounding country from there. One of the tests that they put the car to was up Big Hill, which the machine is said to have negotiated without much trouble. They also put it through a number of other severe tests around this section.

Prof. Ben Field, of Berea College, went through here Saturday with 30 boys from that famous institution to spend a week camping at Boonesboro. The crowd there from all parts of the country is filling up that popular resort this hot weather. All of the cottages are taken by campers. Dr. Williams reports.

Well, Look Who's Here

The Jessamine Journal, in a note of Hub Dawson's appearance in a base ball game at Nicholasville last week, says: Dawson went from the old Blue Grass eagle to the Nationals and was a catcher of note. He also was a batter second to none, and in the big game was for several seasons kept as a pinch hitter. Dawson is 6 feet 7 inches tall and a striking contrast it was to see him catching behind Warren Feather at bat, who is 5 feet 3 inches. Dawson made a hit with all the Nicholasville fans.

Champion Is Sued

Atlantic City, N. J., July 9.—Suit to collect $500 wages was filed today by Mrs. Carrie Barrett, who "mothered" Jack Dempsey while he was in training here for two months for his fight with Carpentier, against the champion and Jack Kearns his manager, in the Atlantic City District Court.

Folks Will Return A Visit They Like

When folks go to a moving-picture house in response to announcement of the show, they're accepting an invitation.

An advertisement is an invitation. It invites its readers to accept the advertiser's commercial hospitality.

Every ad you publish is such an invitation to people to visit you.

You invite people to return. Friend Advertising's call on them. And they'll accept—if they like the way he made his visit and the way he extended his invitation.

That's a part of the secret of newspaper advertising's success—it extends its invitation in a way that the public likes.

Folks are hospitable to advertising that enters their homes via their newspaper.

They read it—usually—when there's time to think it over.

Very often they read it when the family is assembled, so they can talk over the more important of the invitations they find.

It's a friendly, sociable sort of way of inviting folks to come in and do business with you. It's a friendly, sociable sort of response such advertising brings.—Ex.

TWO PLAYGROUNDS FOR EAST END

Sue Douglas Community Club
Equips Places For Youngsters To Enjoy

The Sue Douglas Community Club of Richmond which was organized last winter is doing a splendid work through its various departments though the Club has been too modest to give any publicity to its work through the press.

In the early spring, under the direction of its president, Mrs. Ballard Luxon, and an efficient committee with Mrs. Dr. Smoot as chairman, a baby's room at the Pattie A. Clay was furnished, which, Miss Scott says, was sorely needed and is now a source of great joy and comfort to the infirm.

Later in the spring, the committee which had been instrumental in helping further the work of the Associated Charities, began plans for a second-hand sale. This was directed by Mrs. George Goodloe and her committee. The sale was held in East End, and through the splendid cooperation of all the members of the Club, as well as outside friends, the sale was a great success. The proceeds were given toward equipping two playgrounds for the children.

With the assistance of an efficient corps of helpers, Deaconess Emily Olmstead, as chairman of the Child Welfare and Recreation Committee, secured two lots as sites for the desired playgrounds. Mr. Bates Shackelford kindly allowed the Club the use of a vacant lot which adjoins the L. & N. freight depot for the summer months, thereby providing a splendid place for the white children of that section of the city. No other advertisement than the placing of the equipment on the playground was needed for the children who flocked there, even though the thermometer registered above ninety degrees.

The equipment for the colored playground when finished, will be placed on the new lot recently purchased by the colored people, and which is located just back of their school house.

The Community Club is working slowly, and necessarily on a small basis, but its work will live in the hearts of the citizens of Richmond, and will receive their hearty approval, because of the one for whom the Club is named, and because she, like the Master, went about doing good, while here on earth.

Canada Insists On Identity

Premier Meighan, of Canada, startled the British government executives at the Conference of Imperial Premiers, in London, with his demand that Canada should have active and positive participation, and not merely a neutral interest, in national affairs which concerned to Dominion. His stand is described as being almost a new Declaration of Independence, a modified Magna Charta.

These four propositions were advanced by Mr. Meighan; Canada and the dominions or colonies must be fully informed as to British policy affecting India, Mesopotamia, and the Orient; Canada and the dominions must not only be informed, but consulted, regarding international policy affecting them; treaties must be approved hereafter by the dominion parliaments, and, in any matter affecting the United States decision shall rest with Canada.

Premiers Smuts of South Africa, and Hughes of Australia, were equally emphatic in their contention the new British diplomacy must be based on friendship and understanding, instead of compacts.

But very scant information has leaked out regarding the pacific negotiations to settle the Irish problem. There seems to be hardly a reason to doubt, however, that the new British policy had its origin at the Premier's Conference.

The frank and fair assertiveness of the chief executives of the leading nations will foster international amity. The United States does not seek advantage, political or commercial, and it would like to be on the best of terms with all countries, without exception.

The expressions of the premiers show progress with the American idea of policy and diplomacy. They are repetition under modern conditions, of George Washington's sincere and practical advice.

To The "Old-Timers"

Gather around, you Richmond "old timers," you fellows who pride yourself on your memory, and answer a question or two. How long since you went into a store and called for a bottle of "Godfrey's Cordial," or Dr. Radcliff's Toothache Tincture," or "Genuine Haarlem Oil," or "Le-Vine" Eye Water, or Bloom of Circassia." Quite a few years we dare say. And yet there are many in this neighborhood to whom those names are familiar, and who recall that back several years ago, in the days of their youth, those remedies were household words.

But you can't find them now. At least you don't hear people calling for them and we doubt if there is a store in this section that could dig up more than one of the several named if there should be a call for it. Not that they are no longer considered good remedies—they are doubtless just as good as they ever were. But there is no demand for them, and there hasn't been for a good many years.

And the explanation is right here in a few words—you don't hear them called for because you don't see them advertised. As long as they were advertised they were in demand and they sold by the thousands of bottles. Today few people know anything about them, and when they want a medicine that will answer the same purpose as the old ones, they go to the store and buy something they see advertised. All of which proves conclusively that the very things the public sees advertised are the very things the public buys. You can't get away from this argument. And you can't find any better proof of the fact that advertising pays than to try to purchase something that isn't advertised.

SWIFT PRODUCE REVIEW

The generally hot weather existing throughout the country has caused more than a normal seasonal decrease in the total production of eggs, butter, and cheese, and this coupled with the good demand for these products has produced higher market values.

The movement of spring chickens, as is natural at this time of the year, is increasing.

Careful handling in the production and marketing of poultry, eggs, and butter by the producer, especially during the heated season, contributes to improve products, better values, and better satisfaction to the ultimate consumer.

Prefers Studio Sets

To The Real Places

Several of the important scenes of "The Magic Cup," Constance Binney's latest picture, show the interior of a New York newspaper office. Although the picture was being filmed in New York, the company did not attempt to make its scenes in an actual newspaper office. Instead an exact duplicate of the city rooms of one of New York's biggest and best known papers was built in the studio and the scenes then made. Director Robertson says that the studio sets are better for pictures than the actual places they represent, as in the studio lights and other conditions can be absolutely regulated. And he doesn't have to feel that he is imposing on the hospitality of any good natured city editor if he works in a studio set, and he can take as much time as he wants without feeling that he is stopping the wheels of progress, and perhaps delaying the sporting final edition by retakes.

Leaves Daughter In Care

Of A Jewel Thief
From the experience of a life of crime, Bill Preston spoke to his daughter on his death bed: "There's only one way to beat this crooked game, Nancy. Keep out of it."

Old Bill had kept her out of the game so far, but when he was gone, would Dave and Joe protect her? He distrusted Dave because he had seen in his eyes a flame of passion. Joe was greedy and treacherous. He would betray a pal.

Jimmy Doyle was the only one thing to be trusted - Jimmy was clean and played the crook game "straight." He has been like a brother to Nancy, and to him Bill entrusted his most precious possession.

Jimmy and Nancy are the leading characters in "Dice of Destiny," starring H. B. Warner at the local theater Monday. This story by John Moroso is said to be even more powerfully gripping than "Alias Jimmy Valentine," which won stardom for Mr. Warner when he created that beloved rogue on the stage.

SOME TEAM AVERAGES IN CHURCH LEAGUE

The First Christians now have the lead in everything as they have taken the lead in fielding from the other "Campbellites" of the eastern part of the city. Every team in the league has slumped in batting except the Methodists who are playing better ball in all departments. The fielding averages have gone up in all teams except the Second Christians. These two things denote better playing, closer games, and much more interesting ones. Neff is still leading the pitchers with four wins and no defeats. Hembree continues to pilfer the sacks and is leading in stolen bases with 17 to his credit. The batting averages will appear in an early issue of this paper.

1,000 BUSHELS NEW WHEAT SEED WANTED

That Ashland, the new pedigree variety of wheat developed by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station will be popular with farmers when wheat-sowing season arrives is shown by the fact that requests have already been received by the agronomy department of the station from various farmers of the state for more than 1,000 bushels of seed from this variety. Only 100 bushels will be available for distribution from the station, according to members of the department, but farmers who wish to sow this variety during the coming fall are being referred to the 25 farmers who have just harvested all the Ashland wheat grown in the state during the past year. Ashland wheat grown by these farmers was inspected while still in the field and found to be free from noxious weeds or bad mixtures with other varieties of wheat. During the six years that it has been grown at the Experiment Station, Ashland has exceeded all other popular varieties of wheat grown in Kentucky in the yields produced.

Bambino Lets Self Be Fanned To Please Kid

Pittsburg, Pa., July 9—Babe Ruth, playing here Thursday with the New York Americans, in an exhibition game with the Pittsburgh Pirates, kept a promise to T. B. Doyle, professor of St. Paul's Orphanage at Idlewood and visited the institute. Doyle formerly was professor at St. Mary's Industrial school at Baltimore where Ruth spent his boyhood days. The famous ball player was accompanied by "Rabbit" Maranville and Charley Grim of the Pirates. Ruth went to bat before the 800 children at the orphanage and was fanned the first up by Mike Raganski, aged 12, crack pitcher of St. Paul's. Then Maranville took Mike's place and the Home Run King smashed the ball over the lot to the delight of the fans.

CHIPPEWA INDIANS GET A FORTUNE

(By Associated Press)

Duluth, Minn., July 9—Chippewa Indians on the Net Lake Indian reservation, in Northwestern Minnesota, who recently received approximately half a million dollars for timber sold from their reservation, will make good use of the money. Instead of disposing of their fortunes for blankets, beads, tobacco, and possibly whisky, as the Indians of old did, these Chippewas will build school houses and homes, outfit their farms with modern machinery and stock, and "modernize" make rapid advancement from conditions which has gained for them the name of the most primitive of the Chippewa nation.

So believes Chief Wanabosho.

Carlisle graduate, and better known as Joe Northrup, who is devoting his time at the present to helping the Indians become better civilized and to encourage legislation which would release to the Chippewas millions of dollars said to be rightly theirs, which is being held in reserve by the government Indian bureau.

Chief Wanabosho, who is married and has a family residing in this city, is one of the stalwart braves who early in the century deserted the wigwam and entered the white mother's school to obtain an education.

Living in what Chief Wanabosho describes as "wretched conditions," the Net Lake tribe of the Chippewas gained fame in recent years by their primitive habits. Many of the older chiefs and squaws of the Chippewa nation retired to the Net Lake reservation several years ago and practically became outcasts from their nation. They refused to recognize the tribe's general council and in the past, according to Wanabosho, they have repeatedly turned down offers of assistance from their fellow tribesmen.

This situation was brought about, Wanabosho believes, because the Indians were destitute that they have been permitted to and barely managed to exist. Now dispose of their lands and receive at least part of the cash turned over by private interests to the government bureau, he believes the Net Lake Chippewas will join their fellow tribesmen in the latter's upward trend to modern mode of living.

Early in June, contracts with the Chippewas and the Northwestern Paper Company of Cloquet, Minn., were signed, whereby the lumbermen will pay the Indians approximately $500,000 for from 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 million feet of saw timberland pulp wood in the vicinity of Net Lake. The deal marked the passing into the hands of private concerns of the last large tract of standing timber owned by the Indians in the Lake Superior district.

COULD NOT KEEP HOUSE

Without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Says Mrs. Pitts of Newburgh

Newburgh, N. Y.—"My trouble was a weak back and I could not walk two blocks without being tired out. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in a newspaper and decided to give it a trial. Now I can do my own work and walk with ease. I always keep the Vegetable Compound in the house. It certainly is my best friend and I could not keep house without it. I have recommended it to many and always with success. You may use this letter if you wish."—Mrs. EDWARD PITTS, 2 High St., Newburgh, N. Y.

It has been said that "backache is an invention of the Evil One to try women's souls," but even so, it is more often a symptom of a female trouble which sooner or later declares itself. Day after day it drags a woman down and night after night prevents restful sleep. Such a woman should follow Mrs. Pitts' advice and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and regain health. Letters about your health will be given careful attention and held in strict confidence if you write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Their experience of over 40 years is at your service.

HOT, DIZZY FEELING

Atlanta Lady's Uncomfortable and Annoying Condition Relieved, She Says, by Cardui.

Atlanta, Ga.—Miss Alice Frances Young, of 28 East Alexander Street, this city, says: "After entering womanhood, I suffered so much with womanly weakness. My back ached. I would have, at certain times, a hot feeling that seemed to go to my head. Even my shoulders would hurt, and it made me very dizzy and uncomfortable. When the blood would flow to my head—I suppose that was what it was—I would faint and feel so weak. 'I couldn't do my work. I had a good position, and this was surely annoying as well as embarrassing. I would usually have to go home and go to bed. I certainly suffered greatly. 'I heard of Cardui, and my mother bought it for me. It was the first and only medicine that ever did me any good for this trouble.'"

Dizziness, headache, sideache, backache, tired-out feeling and other disagreeable symptoms are often signs of womanly troubles. Thousands of women who formerly suffered from these and similar ailments have found Cardui a very valuable remedy. Cardui is composed only of pure, vegetable ingredients which have long been recognized as of medicinal value in the treatment of many diseases and disorders peculiar to women.

Mammoth Cave Postmaster Kills His Cave Rival

Glasgow, Ky., July 9—Len Ferguson, 30 years old, postmaster at Mammoth Cave, shot and instantly killed Clell Lee, 26, at noon yesterday. The shooting is said to have been an outgrowth of rivalry between employes at Mammoth Cave and Great Onyx Cave. Lee stepped into the post-office and called for his mail. He was informed there was no mail for him and an argument arose. Ferguson shot Lee twice in the back, killing him instantly. Lee, it is said, had been selling postcards and literature on Great Onyx Cave. Ferguson has been connected with the rival cave

ARSENATE OF LEAD FOR TOBACCO WORMS

Tobacco hornworms which usually give tobacco growers considerable trouble at this time of the year are best controlled by arsenate of lead which should be used instead of Paris Green, according to H. H. Jewett, of the College of Agriculture. Experience has shown that arsenate of lead adheres to the plants longer than Paris Green does; that it may be used in unsettled or rainy weather; that it rarely injures tobacco even when used in excessive amounts and that its use is not attended by any irritation to the operator.

"Tobacco hornworms hibernate in the pupal stage during the winter and the adults appear from the first week in June to about the middle of August. Because of this long period during which adults emerge from the overwintering pupae there is a confusion of broods of worms in the fields in the latter part of the season. However, there are two distinct broods. The maximum number of worms is reached by August 16.

"Arsenate of lead is applied to the tobacco by means of a dust gun. When the gun has a fan less than ten inches in diameter the arsenate of lead powder should be mixed with an equal bulk or more of dry, sifted wood ashes. A thorough and even application of the poison is necessary to get good results. The dusting should be done when there is no breeze, either in the evening or in the morning when dew is on the plants. A active operator can dust several acres in one day.

"The first application of the poison should be made when the worms become too numerous to be kept in check by hand picking. Poison the worms when they are small, not more than a week old. Two applications of the poison should be made to the tobacco and even a third of the worms are abundant. Under average conditions from three to five pounds of arsenate of lead to an acre is sufficient for one dusting depending on the size of the plants and worms. This means actual arsenate of lead and not the mixture.

"Effective control of tobacco worms depends upon the grade of the arsenate of lead used. It should be guaranteed to contain at least 30 per cent of arsenic oxide of which not more than 1 per cent is free or water soluble."

NOTHING UNUSUAL ABOUT HOT SPELL

(By Associated Press)

Louisville, Ky., July 9.—There is nothing unusual about the hot spell that has had Kentucky in its grip for the last month, except that it came earlier than usual, according to J. L. Kendall, meteorologist in charge of the United States weather bureau station here. Mr. Kendall accounted for the unusual suffering from the heat, by calling attention to the fact that the hot weather started in May, changing suddenly from cold weather.

Not only is there nothing unusual about the hot spell, according to Mr. Kendall, but the average temperature of 87.2 in Louisville for the past five weeks is not a record. In 1914 the average for the month of June was 89.3 degrees and several times in the fifty years the station has been located here the 1921 figure has been exceeded.

"There is nothing unusual about the present dry hot spell," said the meteorologist, "except that it started early in May, a month or so earlier than usual. This is not the hottest period on record since the weather bureau was started nearly fifty years ago, by any means. In 1914 there was a long hot spell and in June the average temperature was 89.3 degrees, whereas the average for June this year was 87.2 degrees.

"People would not have noticed the present spell had it come later in the summer. Heat prostrations that have accompanied the heat are due probably to the fact that the change came suddenly from cold weather in May to hot weather not giving people ample time to become accustomed to the weather."

Mr. Kendall said that he looked for some records to be broken soon, however, in the event that the present hot spell continued for another week or so.

The hottest days during June this year were June 17 and 18, both of which had a maximum temperature of 93 degrees, with a minimum of 75, or an average of 84 degrees for the twenty-four hours. On June 25 the maximum was 92 and the minimum 76, the average for the twenty-four hours being the same as on the 17th and 18th. The maximum average for the month was 87.2 degrees and the minimum average 69.2, while the normal maximum is 84.4 degrees and the normal minimum 65.4.

The highest temperature during the month was 93 and the lowest 54 degrees, the latter on June 6. June 6 had the greatest range in temperature, the maximum being 82 and the minimum 54.

Big Drive Herds 1,500 Rabbits

In a big rabbit drive which the county agent arranged in Brown county, Texas, 500 drivers herded some 15,000 rabbits and killed part of them. The big drive demonstrated two things—that the rabbits are plentiful enough in the southern part of the state to destroy all crops this year, and also that rabbits can be driven in brush territory as well as in the open. Other drives of not quite as large proportions were held later in the month.
